

Regulatory Impact Statement Consultation Sessions
National Quality Framework
Register now

Dear members,

The Australian, state and territory governments want to hear your thoughts as part of the ongoing Review of the National Partnership Agreement on the National Quality Agenda for Early Childhood Education and Care (2014 Review).

Feedback provided by educators, services and families through the public consultation process earlier this year has been incorporated into a Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) for consultation.

The RIS, which is expected to be released in early November, proposes options for possible changes to the NQF, and you can have a say on these options by participating in the next phase of consultation.

Consultation is anticipated to begin in November 2014, with information sessions to be held in each state and territory.

For information about the session please click here.

To register to participate in a consultation session please click here.

Regards
CQ Office

New look. Same great association.